

FAIRIES

Let me introduce you to three Irish fairies

One old, one small and a mysterious one

First comes the Leprechaun

This old little man you might have heard of.

If you see a rainbow, I'm sure he will soon come

So go for it, take your shovel and be patient

You may very well find his hidden treasure for payment

Then there is the Pixi

This small lady, twirling in the flowers

She can be lovely she can be mean

If you see this little queen

You better have a four-leaf clover

Lastly, don't forget the Puca!

This mysterious creature, proud and smart,

His golden eyes can be quiet scary

Definitely not someone I would marry

But what we don't see is his kind heart

These three mischievous characters don't look alike

But in the end, they are all the same type

They are all fairies

As sweet as a bunch of candies
